NOTES

Marginal and interlinear annotations by the same hand note the names of the characters and provide short explanations about historical and mythological figures mentioned in the capitoli (mainly for Triumphus Amoris, Pudicitie, and Fame); some further annotations by a sixteenth-century hand either point out a few names, or signal a passage perceived as significant; some maniculae.

On the front counterplate is a short biography of Petrarch in Italian by a humanistic hand (<inc> Meser[r] [sic] Francesco Petrarca | Nacque ad Areço nel 1304 | Morì in quell de padoa ad una uilla [—]mat[a] Arquade nel1374; <exp> uisse anni .22. de poch[e] m[—]e Francesco se i[n]namoro delei), below which are some scattered sentences by a later hand.

Decorated initials for the beginning of each Triumphus and each subsequent capitolo (except Triumphus Mortis II, Fame Ia, Fame I, Fame III, Temporis, and Eternitatis).
