NOTES

Patrizi's commentary provides an exposition of Petrarch's poems, focusing in particular on the literal sense with extensive paraphrase. Only occasionally does the commentator also offer rhetorical observations; e.g. for RVF 150, the rhetorical procedure is identified as 'rationatio' (i.e. rationatio: fol. 120v). Fol. 76r: a marginal note, located beneath the first line of RVF 91 by the same hand that transcribed the text, observes that this sonnet is unambiguous and needs no explanation.

Though once believed to be anonymous, this ms. is an unknown copy of Patrizi's commentary to be added to the six known copies of this commentary: The other copies are: London, British Library, Additional 15654; London, National Art Library (V&A Museum), Forster 48.D.28; Rome, Biblioteca Casanatense, ms. 50; Paris, Bibliothèque nationale de France, italien 1024 and italien 1026; Florence, Biblioteca Riccardiana, Ricc. 1141 (Paolino 1999, 155).

Fol. 191 is followed by 191a (fols. 191v-191ar: blank); fols. 278 and 279 are missing.

Fol. 269r: below the title the copyist wrote and erased the initial first line of RVF 1.
